JACK RABBITS FOR COURSEING.

Said to Be Greatly Superior to the English Hare For That Purpose.

The sport of rabbit coursing is receiving a new impetus since the Kansas black tailed jack rabbit has entered the arena. Not until quite recently has the coursing fraternity been aware of the great superiority of the jack over the cotton tail rabbit or the English hare. This purpose Kansas jack rabbit is now greatly in demand, and country and in England, it commands a good price. It is catching them alive and only one man in Kansas is known, has given his undivided attention to the work.

Charles Payne, formerly a hunter and planter, has been a jack rabbit enthusiast for many years. He is largely through his efforts that the sports of the animal for coursing purposes have become so generally recognized. The capture of live jacks involves the purchase of a great deal of expensive paraphernalia. Mr. Payne has two nets made of seine twine, 5 feet in height, which, when both are extended, reach almost across a section, and made expressly for catching live jacks. His method of catching the live jacks is unique. It is his usual custom, when preparing for the raid upon the rabbits, to have one among the farmer boys the day upon which the jack rabbit drive is to take place.

At the appointed time hundreds of country boys, mounted on horses, flock to the rendezvous. The drive is then made, and the jack rabbit is driven into a net. The boys are then divided into two teams, and the race is on. The jack rabbit is driven into a net, and the boys are then divided into two teams, and the race is on. The jack rabbit is driven into a net, and the boys are then divided into two teams, and the race is on.

The rabbits, if they do not become confused by the noise and excitement, bound away toward the net at almost lightning speed, and many of them strike the net so hard that they break their necks. Those that survive the shock scamper into the pockets of the net, and for them the jig is up. Rabbits sometimes die of fright, not being sufficient strength to make the jump. These rabbit drives are a great popular sport in which the people farmers indulge, and it is customary for the organizer of the drive to provide a bonanza spread for his guests and helpers—Philadelphia Times.

A Doctor's Discomfort in a High Pl.

Some of the patients of a prominent physician in Boston, and getting well, were rapidly recovering under the influence of a joke which they have recently heard regarding the Asclepius. It seems that a doctor has a horror of high places. He is always dizzy when on lofty build. Not long ago some relatives from England visited him and suggested a visit to Baker Hill, and in common with about one half of the population of Boston, the doctor was not only forced to acknowledge that he had never been to the top of the monument, but was obliged to accompany his guests to the summit of the granite shaft. It cannot be ascertained whether the persons whom they found there had ever heard of the doctor before, but he had not been there many minutes when one of the strangers was heard to remark that the sun had such an influence on the monument that on warm days it warped it. This was enough for the doctor, and with a warning remark that he would see his friends at the base, he bent a hasty retreat, going down, it is said, four steps at a time and not feeling safe until he had run out on the lawn about the monument far enough to get out of the way in case it fell. The joke of it all is that the doctor, in a state of absolute-mindedness told the very himself, and now, much to his chagrin, his patients are laughing their sides into good health.—Boston Traveller.

Not a Soldier.

A certain "volunteer" general of England visited Reno on a vacation, and being interested in learning a military title was invited to review and mounted on a horse. Being accustomed to follow the lead, he made an excellent impression when asked opinions as to the performance of the maneuvers was obliged to admit the examination. A similar incident befell the late March 11, 1895, when a certain New York lawyer, in the States, who visited Paris in 1894, was presented his card at the Hotel de la Paix. He was politely informed that the company was at a "banquet" and if he desired a drink should be detained at a company. He then went back to the Hotel de la Paix. "But I am not a soldier," said the old lawyer. "Not a soldier," said a new man. "I am a lawyer," said the old man. "I am a lawyer," said the new man. "I am a lawyer," said the old man. "I am a lawyer," said the new man.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable. Prometheus was on terms of intimacy with the gods. From them he stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasus, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined? Yes, and realized. Take a modern interpretation of the parable. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtaken, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures. The sufferings from an outside, visible hurt, are a mere pin scratch to the tortments of a diseased liver.

But, moderns are ahead of the ancients. There is a sequel to the old story. Dr. Pierce is the author. His "Golden Medical Discovery" is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred diseases. Every atom of the "Discovery" is an active agent against disease. It flies like a ferret, wherever it is sent. It is as sure as the needle of the compass. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self.

Mr. W. Rogers of Grayson St. Louisville, Ky. has this to say for himself and the Golden Medical Discovery: "I was a dyspeptic. I had not had a comfortable night in six years. I have taken three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am now fifty years old. I feel thirty years younger. Yours truly

CARSON MINT SHORTAGE.

THE TRIAL OF JOHN T. JONES—THIRD DAY.

Testimony for the Prosecution—Derivation of the Shortage Figures—The Bodie Spurious Melt.

Correspondence of the JOURNAL.

CARSON CITY, March 4, 1896.

The U. S. District Court met at 10 a. m., the regular hour, pursuant to adjournment, and testimony for the prosecution was continued.

Warren Noteware resumed—From full and careful examination of the mint books and records I figured the shortage, detected only in the Melting and Refining Department, to be over $53,000. Add to this the gold shortage in the Bodie spurious melt, over $21,000, and the missing small gold bar, No. 166, and it brings the total mint shortage up to $75,540 75, the figures announced and published by Mr. Mason.

The Bodie spurious melt consists of ten shoe bars and a third. The genuine deposit came into the Mint November 7, 1892, from the Standard mine, Bodie, and was entered on record as gold purchase No. 77, but assay subsequently showing it to be less than 500 fine in gold, it was changed on the record as silver purchase No. 164 and so stamped, the No. 77 being crossed out with a cold chisel. It went $21,309 55 gold and $808 20 silver. This spurious melt is worth $800, averaging only 19 1/2 fine in gold.

From all the marks, stamps, moulds and other indications this spurious melt was evidently made in the deposit melting room before the annual settlement of June, 1893 (bars and moulds shown to the jury), and it passed also through the settlement of 1894. All of the bars of this spurious melt are marked with the stamps of the deposit melting room, which are different from those of the ingot melting room. (Difference shown to the jury.) Whoever substituted this spurious melt must have known the weight of the genuine, to imitate it so nearly. This melt could not have been made without the knowledge of the Melter and Refiner or his assistant. During working hours there are two or more men employed in the melting, moulding, stamping, etc., and at all other times of the day or night there are six watchmen who by turns pass through every department of the mint every hour.

The missing small gold bar No. 166, worth $700, was received into the mint June 5, 1893. It went into the Melter and Refiner's department and was on a shelf in the vault with several other small gold bars. It was missed February 10, 1895, and is still missing from the mint. Jones, left the day before for San Francisco and returned on the 22d. Harris and Jones were the only ones who had the combination to the vault. The next day after Jones left Harris opened the vault and myself and others assisted in weighing all the bullion. Then it was that this small bar No. 166 could not be found.

Records of thirteen minutes was now taken in order to have all the small bars brought over from the Melter and Refiner's vault for the jury to look at. There were about a hundred of them of all sizes, from 160 ounces down to an ounce or two, worth in all $40,000 or more. One was selected of about the same size and value of the missing bar, and by invitation the juryman, under strict watch, handled some of the bars and practiced slipping them into their pockets, merely by way of illustration of how easy it was to nip a few with favorable opportunity, and suggestive of how that missing small 49 ounce bar was spirited out of the vault. Witness stated that there was nothing to prevent the Melter and Refiner or who ever had access to the vault, from pocketing all they liked of them little gold bars. During the year $30,000 worth might thus be packed off and the deficiency not be discovered until the annual settlement.

The consolidation melts record book kept in the Melter and Refiner's Department was commenced April 1, 1891, in the handwriting of Dana Brown, Assistant Melter and Refiner. Pages 8, 9, 10, 11 and parts of 14 and 16 have been skillfully abstracted by somebody interested. The effect of this is to prevent the tracing of individual melts.

Witness was cross-examined at considerable length by Woodburn with regard to the facilities for stealing in the Melting and Refining Department from the gold sweetening tub, etc. Also as to the loss by the nitric process in December and January, 1894-95, the terms and manner of service of the different official and employees in that leaky department. Connors was appointed foreman by Superintendent Adams on recommendation of Melter and Refiner Harris. Pickler was appointed Deposit Melter by Superintendent Adams on nobody's recommendation, and discharged by him for cause.

At 4 p. m. court adjourned till 10 a. m. to-morrow, and the jury retired to their luxurious lodgings in the third story, above the court-room. They eat at the Arlington Hotel and are escorted back and forth, and in fact constantly live under the strict supervision of United States Marshal Humphrey or his deputies, carefully secluded from all

THREATENED LITEL SUIT.

Rumor That H. H. Beck is to be Sued by the King.

It was reported at the Court-house and on the streets yesterday that the ring men were discussing a proposition to bring suit against H. H. Beck for exposing through the public press some of their doings. The JOURNAL hopes the rumor is well founded. This paper suggested three months ago that if what Mr. Beck said about certain members of the ring was true, it was the duty of the District Attorney to prosecute the individuals, and if it was false those individuals should sue Mr. Beck for libel. The District Attorney did not act, neither did those who claimed to have been misrepresented.

It is said, too, that the JOURNAL is to be made a defendant in the suit for publishing Mr. Beck's articles. This paper has no objections. It published nothing but what it believed to be true, and there are very many other things relating to ring methods which it has reason to believe are true, that it intends to publish, so go ahead with the suit.

The Silver State says winter has set in now in dead earnest and we suppose there will be no occasion to lament the scarcity of water next summer.

The State and county tax in Humboldt county as fixed by the Commissioners last Monday is the same as last year $2 20 on the $100 valuation. The tax rate on property in Winnemucca is $2 55, which is five cents less than last year, the special fire tax having been reduced that amount.

A State Mining and Immigration Convention will be held at Helena, Montana, on March 10th, the purpose being to promote the legitimate developments of the gold, silver, copper, lead coal and iron resources of the State, to encourage the settlement of agricultural lands and to promote immigration.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET

Receipts and Prices of Cattle and Sheep.

The Live Stock Report gives the estimated receipts of cattle at Chicago last week as 46,000. Extra prime steers sold from $4 40 to $4 60 per 100 lbs. live weight; export and shipping steers from $4 to $4 20; fair medium steers, 1,150 to 1,400, $3 50 to $3 75; Texan range steers from $3 to $3 80 per 100 lbs.

The estimated receipts of sheep were 67,000. Prime native export wethers sold from $4 50 to $4 75 per 100 lbs.; good to choice natives $3 25 to $3 40; good to choice westerns, 90 to 100 lbs, $3 50 to $3 60; choice lambs, $4 40 to $4 50.

All grades are lower than the previous week, heavy sheep suffering most owing to the very light export demand.

The Concert.

A large audience greeted Sousa at the theater last night. It is seldom that as large a musical combination visits Reno, consequently there was a large attendance. It would be foolish for the musical critic on the JOURNAL to attempt to tell how grand the concert was, for his knowledge of music is so limited that were he to tackle a Greek oration he might succeed as well.

Several ladies were heard to say that Sousa was divine. Whether they referred to Sousa directly or his music was not explained.

Without mentioning the numbers in detail it can be said that the instrumentation, combination, expression, tempo, tempo rubato, harmony, pianissimos, crescendos and fortes and the general performance was superb.

The Trombonist's solo was great. He touched one note an octave lower than his horn was made for, and would have kept on going down if he had had another telescopic shank to have lengthened out his instrument.

The French horn quartette in the last number was good, as were also the various duets, solos, etc., performed by the flageolets, hautboys, ophicleides, ballad horns and cornets, but it is safe to say that Tanhauser or the Hungarian Rhapsody was not understood by fifteen people in the house and that "Carry the News to Mary" or "Get Down da Ooon and Claw de Flo" would have been more appreciated. The singing of Miss French and the violin solo of Miss Carrie Duke were pleasant features of the entertainment, but the song of "Oh, Where is My Dollar and a Half" will be the most popular of any to-day.

Within the City Limits.

WM. THOMPSON,

Retiring from active business, offers special inducements to home seekers, investors or speculators.

Fifty Desirable Lots near the Residences of A. H. Manning and C. Novacovich; also ten or twelve lots east of Virginia Street, near the residence of Nathan Stanley, all on the south side of the river, which he will sell for cash or on the installment plan at the most reasonable figures.

LOOK AT THIS!

An undivided half of what was formerly known as the Marker Tract; 160 acres near the residence of Francis G. Newlands; 50 inches of water goes with the land. The land will be sold in plats of 5, 10 or 20 acres, on the installment plan or cheap for cash. It is the most desirable site for homes in or about the city, less than a mile from the depot and postoffice.

Still Another Opportunity.

Four or five acres of land near the V. & T. R. R. bridge with free water will be sold cheap for cash or on the installment plan, or will be leased to a responsible party for the term of two years, rent free, who will guarantee to cultivate the same.

FOR SPECULATION.

Three Hundred Thousand Dollars worth of Personal Property, consisting of Stocks, Bonds, Notes, Securities and Judgments, the latter being in full force, will all be disposed of at large discounts. Any one with ready money can find no better chance of speculation.

VEHICLES AND HARNESS.

A Fine Double-Seated Cutter, also set of sleigh bells, harness and robes, the outfit complete. Also five or six sets of single and double harness, a few wagons and carts. No reasonable offer will be refused for the whole or any single piece. Also a lot of miscellaneous property consisting of furniture and other property.

Thoroughbred Horses

Fifty head of stylish horses, many of which are thoroughbred, the product of Silver State, Bessie Shannon, Nee Ban, Martinett, Gerste and Swift. WIND AND SEA.

The sea is a jovial comrade;
He laughs wherever he goes;
His merriment shines in the dimpling lines
That wrinkle his hale repose;
He lays himself down at the foot of the sun,
And shakes all over with glee,
And the broad backed billows fall faint on the shore
In the mirth of the mighty sea!

But the wind is sad and restless
And curbed with an inward pain;
You may mark at will, by valley or hill,
As you hear him still complain.
He wails on the barren mountains
And shrills on the wintry sea;
For when in the cedar breezes in the pine
And shudders all over the aspen tree

Welcome are both their voices,
And I know not which is best—
The laughter that slips from ocean's lips
Or the ceaseless wind's unrest.
There's a joy in all rejoicing,
A joy in the least of pain,
And the wind that saddens, the sea that glads
Are singing the self-same strain.
—Raymond Taylor

WHO CINDERELLA REALLY WAS

Her Story is Very Ancient and Appears
In Sacred Hindu Books.

The story of Cinderella is substantially the same as that told of Rhodope and Psamathe by Elhan, who lived in Rome in the third century of the Christian era. The story, as told by Elhan, is that while Rhodope was bathing, an eagle carried away one of her sandals and dropped it near the feet of Psamathe, king of Egypt, who, like Cinderella's prince, was struck by its diminutive size, caused the maiden to be sought for, and married her when found. Make the sandal a glass slipper and add the ugly stepmother for the sake of contrast, and the stories are much the same. The glass slipper, by the way, is an acknowledged fiction, being in reality a mistranslation of "pantoufle en vair" (a fur slipper), and not "on verre."

This, at all events, is what is claimed by Perrault in his "Contes de Fees." Both these stories have doubtless a common origin, but it is necessary to go further back in the history of the literature to find it—to a people who lived in a period compared with which that of even Elhan is quite modern. It is in the Vedas, the four sacred books of the Hindus, that the origin is to be found.

After what has already been said, it will not be surprising to learn that Cinderella is a dawn maiden, her sisters being the powers of darkness, who compel her to wait upon them, keeping her hidden from sight. The dawn maiden leaves from her bonds, and captivates the sun, remaining with him for a time. But she cannot linger with him in the heavens; she can remain only until a certain hour. Once she hinders too long, and, hurrying back, leaves on the path she has taken a token of her visit in the form of a fleecy cloud, which had borne her aloft when she left the regions of darkness. The sun, determined to find her, sends out his emissaries (the rays of light), but does not find her until she appears before him as the evening twilight. In the Vedas the prince is called Mitra, which is one of the names given to the sun.
